

How much will cataract surgery cost?

- Below is a summary of costs for cataract surgery
- Diabetic patients have a £56 surcharge for additional glucose monitoring during the surgery and hospitalization.
- *Any complications may require additional consultations (£170 each), procedures, hospitalisation and drugs at our standard charges, the cost of which varies depending on the nature of the complications
- We are very happy to provide written prescriptions (which are chargeable) to allow you to buy medications from other sources

Average Prices for Cataract Surgery (inc. VAT) from January 2024 (prices subject to review)

	One Eye	Both eyes
Assessment:
Initial consultation	£265	£265
Day of Surgery:
Cataract removal, including lens, ultrasound scan, re-examination 1 day and 1 week later and average cost of post-op drugs	£4498	£5949
Re-examinations:
For uncomplicated cases you should budget for at least three further re-examinations	£510 (3 x £170)
Average total costs for the first 6 months	£5008	£6459
For complicated cases your pet may require additional consultations*	£170 (each)

Other Current Charges and Financial Arrangements

As of January 2024. These charges and arrangements are subject to review without notice.

Consultations

- Initial consultation £265
- Re-examination £175
- Initial consultation out of hours £523
- Re-examination out of hours £461
- Out-of-hours procedures will incur additional fees which will be explained to you in detail after your pet is assessed

Prescriptions

- Prescription Fee 1 item £21
- Prescription Fee 2 items £24
- Prescription Fee 3 items £27.50

Insurance

- Direct claim administration fee per form £42
- This charge covers the administration costs of completing each insurance form. This fee will not be reclaimable from the insurance company.
- After completion we are required to return claim forms to the client for onward submission to the insurance company.
- We ask that all accounts are settled by the client at the time of the consultation or procedure.
- We will process your claim form as quickly as possible. In exceptional circumstances we will submit direct claims to insurance companies for surgical invoices only but not for drugs or consultations. Any such direct claim must be authorised by our staff in advance. Clients should be aware that any excesses payable remain their liability.